

Brian M. Humphries CBE

EBAA President

Brian Humphries joined Shell Aircraft in late 1989 as an aviation adviser, having served in the Royal Air Force in ranks up to Air Commodore in a variety of appointments with both flying and engineering responsibilities.

After becoming Managing Director of Shell Aircraft Limited in 1994, his duties were expanded in 2000 when he also became the CEO of Shell Aircraft International, accountable for all Shell Aircraft's operations worldwide, amounting to more than 100,000 flying hours per year.

He retired in April 2005 and is now President and CEO of the European Business Aviation Association, based in Brussels, where he had previously served as Chairman from 1996 to 2004.

Humphries is also Chairman of the British Helicopter Advisory Board and has served a three-year term as Chairman of the Montreal-based International Business Aviation Council (IBAC), representing the interests of business aviation globally at ICAO.
