Authorities are expected to increase the aviation security posture within the confines of Ngurah Rai International Airport (WADD/DPS) and at gates along the installation perimeter in the near term. In addition, randomised inspections of vehicles and individuals passing through the airport confines may occur. Vehicles may also be subjected to additional screening, including car trunks, baggage and cargo. Of note, Indonesia has increased travel restrictions for arriving and departing travellers within the region and relating to other countries worldwide with significant outbreaks of COVID-19. At a minimum, operators are advised to accept and comply with any enhanced aviation safety and/or security measures in a considerate manner to avoid additional disruption to flight schedules. Aviation operations to the airport could be restricted at short notice in the days ahead and operators should monitor airport/airspace-specific NOTAMs, bulletins, circulars, advisories, prohibitions and restrictions prior to departure to avoid flight schedule disruption.
