A close-up, front-facing view of a white aircraft's nose and propeller. The propeller is black with four blades, and the engine cowling is highly reflective chrome. Red safety covers are visible on the propeller blades and engine components. A red tag with the text "REMOVE BEFORE FLIGHT" is attached to one of the covers. The background is a clear blue sky with some light clouds. A large, semi-transparent magenta shape is overlaid on the right side of the image, containing the section title.
